

Terms and Conditions

Website.

The Changinglight website (www.changinglight.co.uk) is operated by Andy Lock. All of the content featured or displayed on this web site, including, but not limited to, text, graphics, photographs images ("content") and software is owned by Andy Lock and its content providers.

All elements of the Changinglight web site, including, but not limited to, the general design and the content, are protected by trade press, copyright, moral rights, trademark and other laws relating to intellectual property rights. Except as explicitly permitted under this or another agreement with Andy Lock, no portion or element of this web site or its Content may be copied or retransmitted via any means and this web site, its content and all related rights shall remain the exclusive property of Andy J Lock or its licensors unless otherwise expressly agreed.

You shall indemnify Andy J Lock, his agents and licensors against any losses, expenses, costs or damages incurred by any or all of them as a result of your breach of the terms of this Agreement or your unauthorized use of the content and related rights.

Privacy Policy.

Andy Lock does not sell or rent information about his customers to any third parties. All information supplied to us, including your email address and telephone number, is used for internal purposes only, in order to keep you updated with the latest news, promotions, and updated web site information. Any payment information submitted to Andy Lock is retained in the off-line Accounts.

Andy Lock set up his website, with the clearly defined aim of protecting the copyright of "his work". Further, the copyright laws around the world now offer statutory protection for the copyright of photographers' work except where Andy Lock has willingly agreed to part with the copyright to a client.

Images requested and purchased through Andy Lock are offered on an individual license basis. The copyright of the image is always retained by the photographer, Andy Lock. The licenses serve to protect the rights of Andy Lock, the licensee and even the subject matter of the images. Rights management has advantages for the licensee as it can be used to limit the use of a particular image, even allowing the use to be licensed exclusively, which effectively embargoes the use of the same image within the requested media. When an image is licensed, there will be standard terms and conditions outlined with your specific usage rights. This will be sent to you by post or email once the license has been agreed, with the full terms and conditions.

Usage Rights.

When an image is licensed by Andy Lock, the Usage is specified on the invoice and cannot be used for any other purpose without further agreement by Andy Lock. The license will state the media use, language rights and the territories for the Usage. All images supplied by Andy Lock are copyrighted, you must have permission to use the image from Andy Lock even if there is no fee involved or it is going to be used under a creative commons license.

Usage Fee.

A fee is generally payable to license any rights managed image, unless supplied on a creative commons licence by Andy Lock for non-commercial, non-profit usage's. This includes images that may appear on Indymedia, or other open publishing media. It is important that you contact Andy Lock if you want to use the Creative Commons Licence as it may affect other rights managed licences in use and there terms, so please don't just copy the images and use without the permission of Andy Lock. The fee is based on how the image is going to be used. This will be calculated by such factors as the print run, media, the reproduction size, and territory distribution and whether the requested use is exclusive or non-exclusive. Andy Lock calculates this fee by relying in good faith on the information provided by the licensee. Incorrect information can lead to a surcharge on the originally agreed fee and may lead to a cancellation of the license.

Cropping and Image Manipulation.

Andy Lock works on the ideal that photographs should not be altered, cropped or manipulated in any form without permission from Andy Lock. The rights to alter any photograph rests with Andy Lock and will seek his opinion in any alteration request. Today, many alterations are granted by Andy Lock, but it is necessary to submit a request before the image is reproduced as this may affect the terms of the license and result in an additional charge on top of any agreed Usage fee.

Credit Lines.

With all editorial rights managed, Royalty Free or Creative Commons licensed photography, Andy Lock should be credited with any reproduction of his work. The credit line should read ©Andy J Lock. The preferable location for this credit line is immediately adjacent to the image or in the acknowledgements or credits section. For all commercial and advertising uses, we would request that the licensee would use reasonable effort to provide the same credit line.

Published Images.

Andy Lock always requests at least one copy of any publication featuring an image reproduction upon publication.